EcoLeaders earn valuable certification that boosts career skills and employment prospects by taking five steps:

- 1 Declaring and sharing your personal EcoMission
- 2 Designing and implementing a sustainability project on your campus or in your community
- 3 Supporting and networking with other emerging leaders across the nation and beyond
- 4 Applying for and earning recognition for gaining project-based leadership skills
- 5 Researching and planning your personalized pathway to a fulfilling green career

All of the above are supported by an online community, project planning tools, forums, career center, guides, links to employers and more.

EcoLeader Project Ideas:

- » Develop a sustainability plan with a zero waste policy for your organization, office, campus, or department
- » Host a student referendum on creating a green fee to fund campus environmental and sustainability projects, dedicate student activity fees, and set up a match
- » Organize an environmental cleanup event with your colleagues, classmates, fraternity/sorority members, or other community members
- » Design and conduct a study of local wildlife to inform community policy makers and help promote conservation
- » Create an annual rewards program recognizing students, staff and faculty for advancing learning, leadership and practices that advance sustainability
- » Promote alternative modes of transportation to your office or school with meet-ups, bicycle maintenance workshops, and other events
